

Key considerations for Returning Officers and their deputies

Aim

This course aims to prepare Returning Officers and Deputy Returning Officers for the responsibilities of their roles.

Objectives

1. Ensure Returning Officers and their deputies understand the scale and complexities of an election and the personal nature of the legal responsibilities they are taking on.
2. Create awareness of key planning considerations and high-risk areas at elections, drawing on lessons from specific examples where things have gone wrong.
3. Equip delegates with an understanding of key election processes, such as candidate nominations, postal vote openings and how to adjudicate ballot papers which are not marked in line with voter instructions.
4. Encourage discussion about how to quality-assure the whole election process, including project and risk management.

Who is this course for?

Newly appointed Returning Officers and Deputy Returning Officers, those with limited experience or those interested in knowing more about the duties and responsibilities of being a Returning Officer.

Course overview

You will learn about all key election processes, including:

- The candidate nominations process.
- Practical exercises on the production and checking of ballot papers.
- Verification of signatures and dates of birth on returned postal voting statements.
- How to adjudicate ballot papers not marked in accordance with voter instructions.

The course will be delivered using a mixture of presentation material, exercises, and with reference to example documentation and official guidance.

Group discussion will take place during the day to enable you to exchange knowledge, experience and ideas.

Each course runs from 10:00 until 16:00 with suitable breaks, including for lunch.

Course notes will be provided.
